California Preschool Instructional Network

The California Preschool Instructional Network (CPIN) is funded by the California Department of Social Services and has provided high-quality professional learning, technical assistance, and support to California's preschool program administrators and teachers since 2004.

Organized into 11 state regions, CPIN instructors provide research-based teaching and learning strategies that are age and developmentally appropriate and highlight inclusive practices and support for ALL children. Instruction incorporates adult learning theories and is intentional, reflective, and interactive.

Through in-person and virtual learning opportunities, CPIN promotes promising practices in early learning and family engagement with an emphasis on equity.

To learn more about the topics, professional learning sessions, and available coaching in your area, contact your local CPIN Regional Lead.

For more information, contact the Sacramento County Office of Education Early Learning Department at cpinadmin@scoe.net or contact the CPIN lead in your region at www.cpin.us

Professional learning designed for ALL early learning and care providers, preschool educators, leaders, and all who support three to five year olds.
